IN REPLY REFER TO

The Honorable Charles Thone
Governor of Nebraska
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, Nebraska 68509

Dear Governor Thone:

I have the honor of transmitting to you the Forty-Third Biennial Report of the Department of Water Resources. The report contains a summary of the department's work for which a primary or leadership role has been delegated by statute or executive directive. It covers the two-year period ending September 30, 1980. The report also contains a detailed list of the water appropriations from streams and reservoirs, as well as other statistical information.

Respectfully submitted,

DEPARTMENT OF WATER RESOURCES

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

The Director declared a moratorium on approval of new applications for diversion of water from Lodgepole Creek in Water Division 1-E on February 29, 1979. That action followed basin-wide cancellation of unused water appropriations concluded one year earlier. The Director's action, recommended by the department's Division Engineer, is limited to natural flow applications. It does not apply to applications for impoundment or use of impounded water.

On December 14, 1979, a similar policy was declared for the handling of new applications to divert natural flow from Pumpkinseed Creek.

The 1979 Legislature enacted LB 802 which authorized departmental processing of claims and applications for permits to divert water from the Missouri River. Utilization of information provided by the Omaha District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers allowed the department to contact and advise known water users of the change in statutory law.

The legislation passed by the 1980 Legislature provided for the creation of the Power Review Board as an individual agency. This action caused the separation of the Power Review Board from the Department of Water Resources. Consequently, the Director of Water Resources is no longer Secretary of the Power Review Board.

Resolution of the so-called "Greyrocks Dam dispute" occurred on December 4, 1978, when affected parties agreed to an out-of-court settlement (a copy of the Settlement appears elsewhere). Principal objectives for the State of Nebraska were met in negotiation of a limited water consumption by the 1,500 megawatt Missouri Basin thermal-power complex located near the Laramie River in eastern Wyoming.

On September 5, 1980, a suit was brought against the department and the Director by the United States. The controversy stems from a disagreement over whether seepage waters escaping the Farwell Irrigation District project lands become dedicated to the people of the State once they reach a natural stream and are thus subject to appropriation by members of the public. The apparent position of the United States is that such waters are subject to recapture and reuse by the original appropriator until they return to the stream of origin. At the end of the reporting period the case had not been argued before the U. S. District Court.

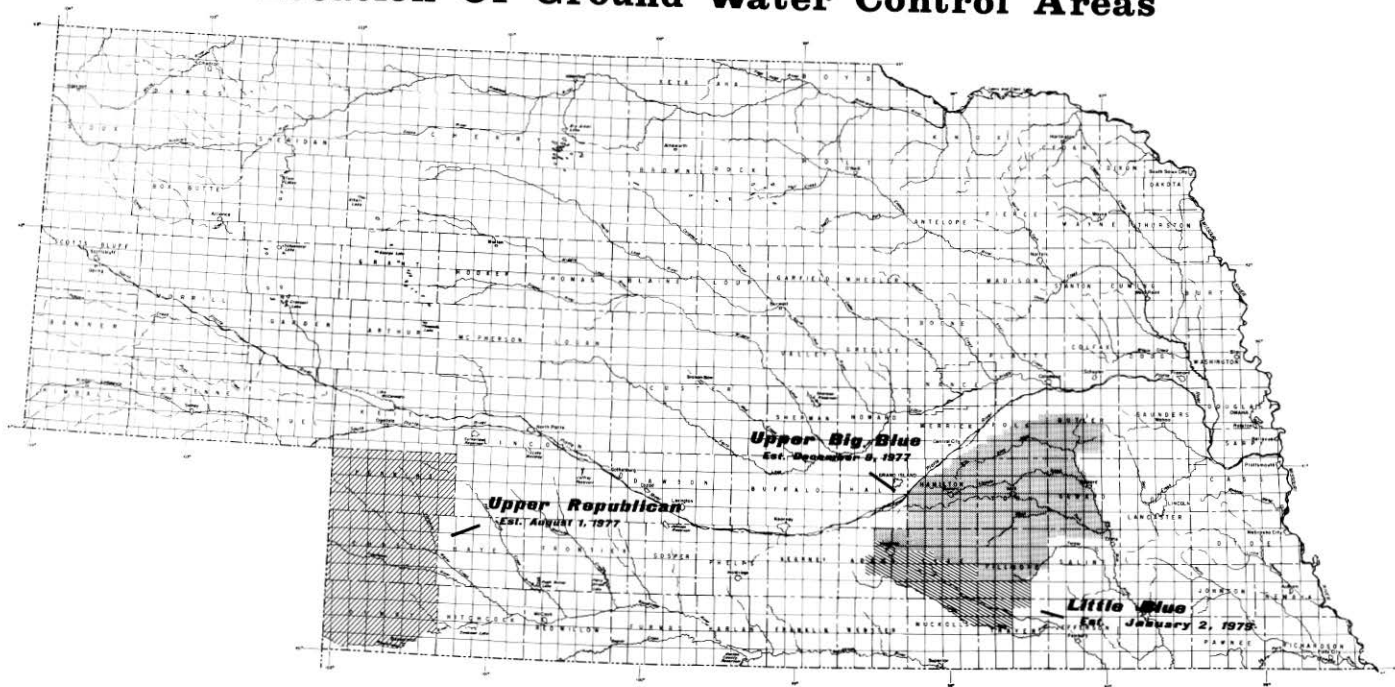

During the biennium one additional Ground Water Control Area was created. On January 2, 1979, approximately one-half million acres in the Little Blue Natural Resources District was declared a Control Area. District rules and regulations to manage future ground water usage were subsequently approved. (The map on the following page depicts the State's three Control Areas.)

A sixth request for creation of a Control Area was submitted by the Lower Loup Natural Resources District in late 1979. Following review of testimony and exhibits received at a hearing held in Bartlett, the Director denied the district's request. Denial of the request seemingly inspired preliminary county planning for purposes of land-use management.

Following 39 days of hearing; collection of 8,080 pages of testimony; and receipt of 427 exhibits, the hearing on the Little Blue Natural Resources District v Lower Platte North Natural Resources District, et al. concluded. In a brief Order subsequently entered, the Director again denied the Little Blue Natural Resources District's applications to divert Platte River waters for storage and use on lands outside that watershed. The Order noted sufficient unappropriated water for the proposed project. The Order further stated, however, that judicial precedence in matters of transbasin diversion had been established by the State Supreme Court. Hence, the department was "without authority to grant approval" of their applications.

Appeal was later made to the Supreme Court by the Little Blue Natural Resources District. On June 24, 1980, the Supreme Court ruled in favor of the Little Blue NRD (a copy of the Opinion appears elsewhere). It reversed the Director's decision and remanded the case to him for further consideration. Following the Supreme Court denial of an appeal for a rehearing before the Court made by the Objectors (Defendants), the Director requested briefs from all parties. Briefs of the parties were limited to a discussion of the public interest regarding the proposed Little Blue NRD project.

WATER SUPPLY 1979-1980

The 1979 yield of the upper North Platte River or Pathfinder watershed was near normal with a runoff of 1,257,300 acre-feet, approximately 112% of average. The combined Pathfinder-Guernsey watershed runoff was 1,419,900 acre-feet compared to a normal 1,550,200 acre-feet. The 1980 water year was favored with an above average snowfall and a consequent Pathfinder runoff of 1,540,500 acre-feet or 130% of normal.

Flow into Nebraska from the South Platte was considerably above the previous biennium. The 1979 volume of 474,800 acre-feet was nearly tripled during 1980 with 1,396,000 acre-feet. Spring rains and a generous snowpack accounted for the latter quantity.

The water supply in the Niobrara basin was below normal in 1979. Inflow into Box Butte reservoir was 18,340 acre-feet. The year 1980 recorded a near normal inflow of 21,160 acre-feet.

Water supplies in the Loup River Basin were near normal during 1979. Available supplies during 1980 were considerably reduced. Several days of record low flow in the Loup River were observed at the Genoa gaging station. Water impounded in Sherman County reservoir was exhausted by August 2, 1980; which, although acknowledged in the project's design, was previously experienced on but one occasion. Subsequent refilling of the reservoir permitted resumption of releases on August 15.

Water supplies in the Elkhorn River Basin were at or below normal during most months of the reporting period. With a few exceptions most water users' needs were satisfied.

In the Big and Little Blue River basins, water supplies were near normal during 1979. Below normal conditions, especially in the upstream portion of the Big Blue River Basin, prevailed during the summer of 1980.

During 1979, near normal water supplies were available in the Nemaha River Basin. Below normal supplies prevailed over portions of the basin in 1980.

Within the Republican River Basin, 1979 conditions were in contrast to those in 1980. During 1979, below normal conditions prevailed across much of the three-state basin creating sharply below normal storage volumes in most major reservoirs. An intense mid-summer storm in the Medicine Creek watershed represented the chief exception. The year 1980 saw much improved basin runoff. Storage in most reservoirs was significantly above elevations recorded one year previous. In fact, Harlan County reservoir inundated part of its flood pool during mid-June.

Elsewhere in the Republican River Basin several streams continued previously experienced flow depletions. The Frenchman River and several streams originating in Kansas, such as Sappa Creek, were most notable.

Water Rights Administration

The following are summaries of regulation in 1979 and 1980 as reported by the department's Division Engineers.

PLATTE RIVER BASIN

The earliest regulation in 1979 restricting canals in order of priority of appropriations on the Platte River and Blue Creek was on July 25 when canals upstream and junior to Thirty Mile Canal (priority of September 7, 1926) were closed to natural flow. The following day, canals upstream and junior to Cozad Canal (priority of December 28, 1894) were closed to natural flow. On August 16, following a three-week reprieve, the supply of natural flow was again insufficient and required departmental closing of all appropriations upstream and junior to Cozad Canal. This restriction remained in effect until August 21 when sufficient natural flow allowed the opening of all appropriations for the remainder of the water year.

On July 9, Chimney Rock Irrigation District made the first request for release of Warren Act storage water to supplement their natural flow appropriation. Browns Creek Irrigation District and Central Irrigation District also requested Warren Act storage water during July. All three districts received storage water at various times until August 31, 1979.

The first request for release of Glendo storage water came from Bridgeport Irrigation District on July 15. On July 22, the Enterprise Irrigation District also requested Glendo storage water. This delivery continued until August 1. On August 2, the delivery of Glendo storage to Bridgeport Irrigation District was discontinued at the district's request. No additional requests for Glendo storage water were made for the remainder of the water year.

Insufficient flow in Pumpkinseed Creek at the Meredith-Ammer Canal headgate required the department to close junior upstream rights on August 9. This restriction remained in effect until August 30 when sufficient natural flow allowed all appropriations to be opened to natural flow limits.

The department was not requested to administer the flows of Lodgepole Creek during 1979. The absence of flow along much of the creek was considered the chief contributing factor.

In 1980, administration on the Platte River began on July 16 when appropriations were regulated for the benefit of the Cozad Canal. Orders were suspended on July 22 due to an increase in natural flow. Appropriations junior to the Thirty Mile Canal were closed on July 30. With available natural flow continuing to decrease, the department closed appropriators to natural flow junior to the Orchard-Alfalfa Canal (priority of January 1, 1895) on July 31. This restriction remained in effect until August 19 when natural flow became available to appropriations with rights senior to Thirty Mile Canal. On August 21, all appropriations were opened to natural flow for the remainder of the 1980 water year.

Canals diverting from Blue Creek were regulated frequently for the benefit of senior rights on Blue Creek and additionally for senior rights on the Platte River. The Paisley Canal, diverting from Blue Creek, was restricted on June 30 to provide water for senior rights downstream. Regulation from this date to August 21 was frequent for canals diverting from Blue Creek. All appropriators from Blue Creek were opened to natural flow on August 21 for the remainder of the 1980 water year.

Numerous closing and opening notices were delivered to pump irrigators along Buffalo Creek (a Platte River tributary) in order to provide sufficient flow near the mouth for a senior right. Administration began on July 16 and continued until July 21 when sufficient flow allowed the opening of all rights for the remainder of the season.

On July 5, 1980, the first request for release of Glendo storage water came from the Bridgeport Irrigation District. The Enterprise Irrigation District requested storage water to be delivered to their headgate on August 2. This delivery lasted for 10 days. Bridgeport Irrigation District requested that storage water delivery be stopped effective August 17. No additional requests were made for Glendo storage water.

The Browns Creek Irrigation District, contractor for Warren Act storage water, first requested delivery of storage water on July 6. Chimney Rock Irrigation District and Central Irrigation District both requested storage water to supplement their natural flow appropriations on July 9. All three districts discontinued receiving storage water by September 2.

In an unprecedented action, some 12 to 16 canals diverting from Pumpkinseed Creek upstream of the Court House Rock canal headgate were regulated for nearly two week's time for the benefit of senior appropriators along the main stem of the Platte River. Additional regulation was required for the Meredith-Ammer Canal which required restricting diversions of the Last Chance Canal on several occasions. All appropriations were opened to natural flow on August 30 for the remainder of the 1980 water year.

On Prairie Creek in Nance, Merrick and Platte counties, appropriators upstream and junior to September 1, 1941, were closed from July 12 to August 15.

WHITE RIVER AND HAT CREEK BASINS

Appropriators in the Hat Creek Basin were closed in favor of riparian owners from September 11, 1978, to November 1, 1978, and from September 24, 1979, until November 12, 1979. Additionally, some intermittent administration was required among appropriative water users.

NIORRARA RIVER BASIN

The Niobrara River was administered for the benefit of the Mirage Flats Project (priority of January 25, 1937) with regulation beginning on July 10, 1979, and ending September 24, 1979. During 1980, regulation of diversions began again July 15 and ended September 15. This administration along the upper section of the Niobrara River is a normal, annual requirement.

No other water administration was required in the Niobrara River Basin except for the Keya Paha River where regulation of diversions was required from July 23 to August 18, 1980.

LOUP RIVER BASIN

Ample rainfall was credited for eliminating the need for water rights regulation during 1979.

On July 2, 1980, four appropriations were closed on Spring Creek, and by July 5 all appropriators were closed or regulated. Some 45 appropriators on Mud (Beaver) Creek were closed or regulated on July 8, and by July 16 all appropriators on the creek were regulated. In total, 24 were closed and 55 were regulated to their permitted limits.

On July 15, an appropriator on a tributary to Beaver Creek requested administration, and the department found there was no water available for administration.

On July 17, the three North Loup Irrigation District canals were regulated to their natural flow appropriations. August 2 saw the department limit the Sargent Canal to its permitted natural flow appropriation for the benefit of Farwell Irrigation District.

BLUE RIVER BASIN

The department was not requested to administer water in the Big Blue River Basin during 1979. The department received only one request for water administration in 1979 in the Little Blue River Basin. That request resulted in regulation of two diversions on Big Sandy Creek.

During 1980, drought conditions and heavy irrigation demand caused senior appropriators to request continuous administration on the Big Blue River above the confluence with its west fork. Department administration continued from July 10 through August 12. During this time the department issued 358 closing and regulating orders to appropriators. One appropriator was prosecuted for diverting water in defiance of a departmental closing order.

Within the Little Blue River Basin in 1980, water administration was required on the Little Blue River above Oak commencing on August 1 and ending on August 12. During this period the department was required to issue 91 closing and regulating orders for the benefit of senior appropriators. Several other requests for water administration were received on tributaries to the Little Blue River resulting in the closing of one unpermitted diversion.

ELKHORN RIVER AND SALT CREEK BASIN

There was no water administration in 1979 except for two requests: one on Oak Creek below Branched Oak reservoir; and one on Bell Creek. The water administration request on Bell Creek was alleviated when appropriators voluntarily regulated their pumps which in effect made departmental closing of upstream appropriations unnecessary.

In 1980, only a few isolated instances of water shortages resulted in water administration. Department regulation of water was requested on the North Fork of the Elkhorn River, Oak Creek, Bell Creek, Rock Creek, Wahoo Creek, and the North Fork of Wahoo Creek. These calls resulted in only two regulations by the department. The department also closed one illegal diversion from the Elkhorn River.

NEMAHA RIVER BASIN

Water administration in 1979 was not required within the Nemaha River Basin due to sufficient water supplies and favorable weather conditions.

In 1980, the department received six calls to administer water. A total of 49 closing and regulating orders were issued by the department for the protection of senior water rights on the North Fork of the Big Nemaha River and the North Fork of the Little Nemaha River. It was necessary for the department to close two illegal diversions.

REPUBLICAN RIVER BASIN

In April of 1979, the Water and Power Resources Service (formerly the Bureau of Reclamation) requested that all storage reservoirs upstream and junior to Swanson, Enders, Hugh Butler, and Harry Strunk reservoirs be prohibited from storing water. Orders were subsequently issued and remained in effect until July 6. This was the first time that the department regulated storage appropriators on a large scale.

Appropriations on Frenchman River and Stinking Water Creek were regulated to natural flow for the benefit of Culbertson Canal on July 11, but were opened from July 25 to August 2. They were then closed again till August 26 when Enders Reservoir storage water releases were discontinued.

Appropriations on Red Willow Creek were regulated to natural flow from August 9 to August 29, and those on Medicine Creek from August 13 to August 24.

During 1980, appropriators on the Frenchman River and Stinking Water Creek were regulated to natural flow on July 3 for the benefit of the Culbertson Canal and remained regulated until August 19. Appropriators on Medicine Creek and Red Willow Creek were regulated to natural flow on July 7 for the benefit of the Cambridge and Red Willow Canals. Except for a short period from August 12 to August 15, these appropriations remained regulated until the first week in September.

COURT CASES

AGREEMENT OF SETTLEMENT AND COMPROMISE

In The Cases Of

NEBRASKA v. RAY

THIS AGREEMENT OF SETTLEMENT AND COMPROMISE ("Agreement"), made and entered into this _____ day of _____, 1978, by and among Basin Electric Power Cooperative ("Basin"), on its own behalf and as project manager and operating agent for the Missouri Basin Power Project ("Project"); Tri-State Generation and Transmission Association, Inc. ("Tri-State"), on its behalf and as agent for Chimney Rock Public Power District, the Midwest Electric Membership Corporation, Panhandle Rural Electric Membership Association, Northwest Rural Public Power District and Wheat Belt Power District; City of Lincoln, Nebraska; Wyoming Municipal Power Agency ("WMPA"); the State of Nebraska; the National Wildlife Federation, Inc.; Nebraska Wildlife Federation; National Audubon Society; Powder River Basin Resource Council; Laramie River Conservation Council; Anthony C. Liotta, in his official capacity as Deputy Assistant Attorney General, Land and Natural Resources Division, United States Department of Justice; Robert W. Feragen, in his official capacity as Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, United States; and James W. Ray, in his official capacity as District Engineer, Omaha District, United States Army Corps of Engineers.

WHEREAS, the parties desire to settle and compromise the dispute that has arisen among them concerning whether the REA Administrator, in issuing loan guarantees for the Project, and the District Engineer, Omaha District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, in issuing a dredge and fill permit for the Grayrocks Dam and Reservoir, a feature of the Project, under Section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended, acted in compliance with applicable laws and regulations;

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the promises and covenants herein contained, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. The maximum annual consumptive water use by the power plant at the Laramie River Station will be limited to 23,250 acre-feet per year.
2. To satisfy the requirements cited in Section 1 above, the Project will first utilize the quantity of water which is available to the Project as a result of the Boughton Ditch acquisition. The Project will, secondly, utilize the quantity of water which is available to the Project from the inundated water rights at the reservoir site. The Project will, thirdly, utilize the quantity of water which has been made available to the Project from the Johnson well fields in accordance with the Order of the Wyoming State Engineer dated November 1, 1978 (The Project shall withdraw the "enlargement application" set forth in Paragraph 4 of that Order at page 12). The Project will, fourthly, utilize the water which is stored in the Grayrocks Reservoir. The water rights representing the foregoing are enumerated in Exhibit A appended hereto and incorporated herein by reference. The Project shall not obtain any water or water rights within the Laramie River drainage other than those set out above and enumerated in Exhibit A, or store any water in the Grayrocks Reservoir except pursuant to water rights set out above and enumerated in Exhibit A, or cause the other obligations of this Agreement to be satisfied by water or water rights from within the Laramie River drainage other than by those set out above and enumerated in Exhibit A, except that:

(a) The project may for purposes of start up, initial plant operation and for subsequent intermittent periods of plant operation, utilize groundwater from irrigation wells existing as of the date of this Agreement, or from new wells used in lieu of existing irrigation wells, but only so that such groundwater use by the Project shall not exceed on an annual basis the amount of water historically consumed by the irrigation appropriation and use from the above mentioned existing wells as determined by the appropriate Wyoming state agency. (This groundwater use shall not increase the limit stated in Section 1); and

(b) This provision shall not preclude acquisition of water or water rights of Corn Creek Irrigation District by the Project to satisfy the other provisions of this Agreement out of water rights or applications for water rights of Corn Creek Irrigation District existing as of the date of this Agreement.

3. All water intake structures will be designed and implemented for the sole purpose of supplying water to the Project for Project purposes. No other intake structures will be allowed and the Project will not authorize other entities to construct intake structures at the reservoir site. All intake structures will be metered. A stream-gauging station will be provided above the reservoir and at a distance sufficiently remote from the reservoir so that reservoir storage will not affect the accuracy of the stream-gauging apparatus. There will be a stream-gauging station located below the dam and reservoir site but above any additional drainage or draw from the river and another stream-gauging station at the mouth of the Laramie River. There will be metering apparatus in each pumping structure supplying water to the Project, including all underground water wells.

4. (a) The Project agrees to release adequate flows from Grayrocks Reservoir to insure that flows at a minimum, as measured at the first gauging station below the dam, are 40 cfs during April, and 40 cfs or 75% of the natural flow at the same gauging station during the remaining five months of the year (May through September, inclusive), whichever is greater. The Project agrees to operate the Grayrocks Reservoir so as to provide for the delivery of 40 cfs at the mouth of the Laramie River during six months of the year (October through March, inclusive), 50 cfs during April, and 40 cfs or 75% of the natural flow of the Laramie River at its mouth during the remaining five months of the year (May through September, inclusive), whichever is greater; provided, that the Project will not be required to release more than 200 cfs at any one time nor more than 12,000 acre-feet during any month.

(b) During the initial reservoir filling period, flows will be maintained at the mouth of the Laramie River of at least 20 cfs from October through March, and at 40 cfs during the six months until 70,000 acre-feet have been placed in storage.

(c) Whenever total reservoir storage drops below 50,000 acre-feet, the flow levels to be maintained by the Project shall be 20 cfs from October through March, and 40 cfs from April through September, as measured at the mouth of the Laramie River.

5. When and if the Corn Creek Irrigation District constructs its diversion and delivery system and the District begins using water from the Laramie River Basin, the Project will deliver into the mouth of the Laramie River on an annual basis an amount of water equal to the minimum flows specified in Section 4 minus 22,500 acre-feet and, in addition, will deliver into the North Platte River on an annual basis 11,250 acre-feet, subject to adjustment as provided below. The Project may meet this obligation (subject to the limitations in Section 2) with any flows from the Laramie River which exceed the number of acre-feet derived by subtracting 22,500 from the minimum flow figures in Section 4. Alternatively, at its option, the Project may acquire a portion of this amount or an equivalent amount of water from sources in Wyoming and/or the North Platte Basin in Nebraska and deliver it to the North Platte. This obligation shall continue for as long as the Laramie River Station remains in commercial operation.

6. If the water delivered to the North Platte River by the Project is obtained from any source below the confluence of the Laramie River and the North Platte River, the Project shall be credited with the amount deemed to be conveyance loss. Conveyance loss shall be determined by the North Platte Natural Flow Committee referred to in Section 8.

7. The Project will deliver water annually as provided in sections 5 and 6 above, in the same irrigation season that it is withdrawn by the Corn Creek Irrigation District. For purposes of this Agreement, the irrigation season shall be April through September, inclusive. As used in sections 5 and 6, "deliver" includes, without limitation, abandonment to the North Platte, or failure to use, either temporarily or permanently, Laramie River or North Platte River water or water rights, the right to the use of which has been acquired by the Project, either by purchase, contract or otherwise, so that either the flow of the North Platte is augmented or an existing depletion is avoided as the result of such abandonment or failure to use.

8. The Project will annually submit to the Governor of the State of Nebraska, the Attorney General of the State of Nebraska, and the Director of the Department of Water Resources of the State of Nebraska (with copies to the Laramie River Conservation Council, the Powder River Basin Resource Council, and the National Wildlife Federation) a written report containing all the data and information necessary to show that all conditions agreed to in this Agreement have been fully complied with. The annual report will also include all pertinent data and information gathered from the metering and gauging apparatus required in section 3 above. The Project will submit this written report, as well as an oral report, if asked to do so, to the North Platte Natural Flow Committee meeting of officials of the State of Nebraska and the State of Wyoming each year. For the purpose of assuring interested parties that the gauging apparatus is accurately recording data and in proper working condition, officials of the Nebraska Department of Water Resources will be allowed to verify the information supplied from the gauging apparatus and to conduct appropriate tests, subject to prior agreement by the project Operating Agent, upon such apparatus to determine that they are in proper working condition. The Project will allow officials of the State of Nebraska to have access to all records kept and the right to request and receive reasonable supplemental data regarding compliance by the Project with the water release and delivery requirements of this Agreement.

9. Each October, Basin will request a meeting with a representative to be designated by the State of Nebraska, at which Basin will review its proposed operating plan for Grayrocks Reservoir for the next calendar year. Basin will give serious consideration to comments and recommendations by the Nebraska representative and modify its operating plan to the extent compatible in its judgment with full and efficient operation of Laramie River Station, its commitments to other parties in respect to reservoir management, and with any recommendations by other interested parties such as the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the State of Wyoming. Similar information and consultation will be provided during the year if, in the judgment of the Operating Agent, significant changes in the operating plans are required.

10. Upon the occurrence of all of the events specified in Section 14, the Project, through Basin, shall establish the Platte River Whooping Crane Habitat Maintenance Trust by executing a trust declaration in the form appended hereto as Exhibit B, which is incorporated herein by reference.

11. (a) Basin, Tri-State and WMPA agree that the proposed amendment to Wyoming Statute §41-3-104, attached hereto as Exhibit C is consistent with the policies of their respective organizations and for a period of ten (10) years hereafter agree to actively support the proposed amendment before the Wyoming Legislature. They further agree to actively support the specific concept of this proposed amendment if it is contained in or included with other proposed amendments to Wyoming Statute §41-3-104, which they otherwise may not choose to support.

(b) Basin (except as otherwise set forth in this Agreement as to the Project), Tri-State, and WMPA agree that they shall not, without the prior written consent of the Laramie River Conservation Council and the Powder River Basin Resource Council, transfer, nor seek to transfer from irrigation use or appropriation to industrial use or appropriation, water or water rights within the Laramie River drainage before the 1st day of December, 1988.

12. The parties agree that compliance by the Project with this Agreement satisfies the requirements of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 as amended by the Endangered Species Act Amendments of 1978.

13. All objections to the adequacy of the existing EIS and to the 404 Permit as amended and to the REA loan guarantees are withdrawn. A supplemental EIS is under preparation. The non-Federal parties agree not to challenge its adequacy.

14. This Agreement shall be null and void unless each of the following occurs:

(a) the Secretary of the Interior gives his concurrence to section 12 of this Agreement;

(b) the Grayrocks Dam and Reservoir receives an exemption as provided in section 5 of the Endangered Species Act Amendments of 1978 or the Committee referred to therein determines that by virtue of this Agreement no exemption is required for the Project to proceed as in this Agreement provided; and

(c) the district court's judgment is vacated and the pending litigation is dismissed with prejudice.

15. Upon execution of this Agreement, the parties, through their respective counsel, will promptly file in the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals a stipulation incorporating this Agreement and requesting that the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals take appropriate action to vacate the judgment of the District Court and to dismiss the pending litigation with prejudice. The stipulation shall also incorporate the agreement of plaintiffs that they will neither bring nor support any new litigation by whomever brought asserting any further environmental impact statements or actions under the Endangered Species Act of 1973 as amended by the Endangered Species Act Amendments of 1978 are required in connection with the carrying out by the Project of its obligations under this Agreement.

16. Upon the occurrence of all of the events specified in Section 14, the Project shall pay attorneys' fees and costs as follows:

State of Nebraska	$60,000
Powder River Basin Resource Council and Laramie River Conservation Council	25,000
National Wildlife Federation, Nebraska Wildlife Federation, and National Audubon Society	50,000

17. This Agreement shall be executed in fourteen counterparts, numbered consecutively 1 through 14, each of which shall be deemed to be an original.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Agreement as of the day and year first above written.

V.

STATE, DEPARTMENT OF WATER RESOURCES

205 Nebr. 97, 286 NW2nd 426

Filed June 19, 1979

1. Waters: Statutes. All appropriations for water must be for some beneficial or useful purpose, and when the appropriator or his successor in interest ceases to use it for such purpose the right ceases. § 46-229, R. R. S. 1943.
2. Waters: Statutes: Abandonment: Time. If it shall appear that any water appropriation has not been used for some beneficial or useful purpose, or having been so used at one time has ceased to be used for such purpose for more than 3 years, the Department of Water Resources shall appoint a place and time of hearing, and shall serve notice upon the owners of such water appropriation or such ditch, canal, or other diverting works to show cause, by such time and at such place, why the water appropriation owned by such person should not be declared forfeited and annulled because such water appropriation had not been used for more than 3 years prior to receiving such notice, and shall also serve such notice upon the landowners under such water appropriation, ditch, or canal. § 46-229.02, R. R. S. 1943.
3. Waters: Abandonment: Time. Where irrigation water has not been applied to the lands described in the adjudicated appropriation for the statutory period of 3 years, such nonuse, unless excused for some valid reason, will result in the loss of the right and the Department of Water Resources may cancel the appropriation in whole or in part.
4. Waters. Beneficial use requires, in the case of an appropriation for irrigation purposes, actual application of the water to the land for the purpose of irrigation. To constitute a beneficial use within the meaning of the appropriation statute, the use must be one described in the appropriation.
5. An unexcused nonuse of water appropriation rights by a predecessor in title binds the successor in title.

Heard before Krivosha, C. J., Clinton, White, and Hastings, JJ., and Murphy, District Judge.

CLINTON, J.

This is an appeal from an order of the Department of Water Resources, made under the provisions of section 46-229.02 et seq., R. R. S. 1943, canceling and annulling a water appropriation identified as docket No. 305 with priority date of June 1, 1879, granting the right to divert not to exceed 1.43 cubic feet of water per second of time, from Lodgepole Creek at a point on the north bank of that stream for the irrigation of certain described land containing about 100 acres in Sections 1 and 12, Township 14 North, Range 52 West of the 6th P.M., in Cheyenne County, Nebraska. The landowner, Carolyn Hostetler, has appealed to this court under the provisions of section 46-229.05, R. R. S. 1943. The sole error assigned is that the department erred in determining that the appropriation had not been put to beneficial use for more than 3 years prior to the notice of hearing. We affirm.

Section 46-229.02, R. R. S. 1943, provides: "If it shall appear that any water appropriation has not been used for some beneficial or useful purpose, or having been so used at one time has ceased to be used for such purpose for more than three years, the department shall appoint a place and time of hearing, and shall serve notice upon the owners of such water appropriation or such ditch, canal or other diverting works to show cause by such time and at such place why the water appropriation owned by such person should not be declared forfeited and annulled because such water appropriation had not been used for more than three years prior to receiving such notice, and shall also serve such notice upon the landowners under such water appropriation, ditch or canal." Section 46-229.04, R. R. S. 1943, provides in part as follows: "At such hearing the verified report of the water commissioner or engineers of the department shall be prima facie evidence for the forfeiture and annulment of such water appropriation."

The landowner appeared at the hearing held on April 5, 1978, and she, her husband who operated the farm of which the 100 acres was a part, and an engineer from the Department of Water Resources testified. Certain documentary evidence was also introduced.

Mrs. Hostetler testified she was the sole owner of the land in question and had recently acquired the property by inheritance from Myrtle Gunderson. She and her husband had been in possession of the land only a relatively short time, having moved onto it at some unspecified time prior to November of 1977. She testified she had been told by Myrtle Gunderson, during that person's lifetime, that the water rights had been lost "several years before," and that Mrs. Gunderson had attempted to get them back but had been unsuccessful. Mrs. Hostetler stated she did not know when the canal had last been used to irrigate the meadow. She testified the creek itself had been used for watering livestock.

On November 3, 1977, an engineer from the Department of Water Resources visited the farm and he, together with Mr. Hostetler, inspected the site where the diversion dam had been. At that time only remnants of the dam remained, a post or two. Hostetler stated he had been told by "people" that the canal had not been used for 12 years. He had been farming the land himself for about a year and a half.

Mr. Langhofer, the department engineer who inspected the site with Hostetler on November 3, 1977, stated that Hostetler expressed an interest in using the water right for irrigation. The implication of the testimony is that the engineer must have informed Hostetler that there had been, up to that time, no actual cancellation of the appropriation. Langhofer testified that during the 6 years preceding November 3, 1977, he had visited the Gunderson canal about 10 times a year. At no time was there any water in the canal, although there was sufficient flow in the Lodgepole Creek so that diversion could have taken place had there been a diversion dam.

After the engineer's inspection on November 3, 1977, Hostetler, on or about November 15, 1977, constructed a temporary diversion dam. He stated he did this as a test to see if the water would flow into the canal and "to get the right flow." On that occasion the water flowed into the canal for a distance of about 100 feet. The documentary evidence indicates the canal is a little more than 3/4 mile in length. Hostetler did not, in November, put any water on the irrigable land. He did nothing after that because of a snowstorm.

Mrs. Hostetler argues that the diversion of water into the canal on November 15, 1977, about 3 months before the notice of hearing was served, constituted a beneficial use within the meaning of section 46-229.02, R. R. S. 1943. She also argues that the watering of cattle from the creek constituted a beneficial use for purposes of the appropriation. Her other contention is that good cause was shown for not canceling the appropriation because there was no evidence to show the failure to use was the consequence of her neglect. As she was unaware until the engineer's visit that there had been no cancellation and since she had reasonably assumed there was no existing right, the nonuse was not the result of voluntary neglect on her part.

It is plain the evidence justifies the conclusion that no use had been made of the appropriation for at least 6 years and probably much longer. Did the erection of the temporary diversion dam and the diversion of a small amount of water into the canal about November 15, 1977, constitute a beneficial use within the meaning of the statute? If it was such a beneficial use, does that use defeat the effect of more than 3 years of previous nonuse?

Section 46-229, R. R. S. 1943, provides: "All appropriations for water must be for some beneficial or useful purpose, and when the appropriator or his successor in interest ceases to use it for such purpose the right ceases." Where irrigation water has not been applied to the lands described in the adjudicated appropriation for the statutory period of 3 years, such nonuse, unless excused for some valid reason, will result in the loss of the right and the State may cancel the appropriation in whole or in part. State v. Birdwood Irrigation District, 154 Neb. 52, 46 N. W. 2d 884.

The parties to this litigation have not called to our attention any authorities from this jurisdiction which have precisely defined beneficial use. However, the clear implication of our holdings in State v. Birdwood Irrigation District, supra, and Kersenbrock v. Boyes, 95 Neb. 407, 145 N. W. 837, is that beneficial use requires, in the case of an appropriation for irrigation purposes, actual application of the water to the land for the purpose of irrigation. The courts of most jurisdictions seem to have defined beneficial use as including actual application of water to the land or other beneficial use within the ambit of the appropriation, e.g., power. Arizona v. California, 283 U. S. 423, 51 S. Ct. 522, 75 L. Ed. 1154; Carlsbad Irr. Dist. v. Ford, 46 N. M. 335, 128 P. 2d 1047; McCall v. Porter, 42 Ore. 49, 70 P. 820; Woods v. Sargent, 43 Colo. 268, 95 P. 932; 93 C. J. S., Waters, § 178, p. 928. We hold, therefore, that the diversion of some amount of water into the ditch on or about November 15, 1977, did not constitute a beneficial use within the meaning of sections 46-229 and 46-229.02, R. R. S. 1943.

There is no substance to the contention that the use of the Lodgepole Creek to water cattle was a use within the meaning of the appropriation. It was clearly a beneficial use, but it was a riparian use, not a use pursuant to the appropriation which, by its terms, was for irrigation. We hold that to constitute a beneficial use within the meaning of the appropriation statute, the use must be one described in the appropriation. Kersenbrock v. Boyes, supra.

Was beneficial use excused for any reason? Reasons which might excuse beneficial use would appear to include the following: Unavailability of or insufficient water in the stream State v. Delaware-Hickman Ditch Co., 114 Neb. 806, 210 N. W. 279; and adequate moisture from natural precipitation so that diversion was unnecessary and would result in waste or violate principles of good husbandry, State v. Delaware-Hickman Ditch Co., supra; State v. Birdwood Irrigation District, supra; North Loup River P. P. & I. Dist. v. Loup River P. P. Dist., 162 Neb. 22, 74 N. W. 2d 863. The record shows no reason which excused the failure to make beneficial use of the appropriation. Mrs. Hostetler had no right of appropriation independent of that of her predecessor in title. An unexcused nonuse by the appellant's predecessor in title binds the appellant. State v. Nielsen, 163 Neb. 372, 79 N. W. 2d 721.

RURAL WATER DIST. NO. 2

204 Nebr. 401, 282 NW2nd 594

Filed August 21, 1979

1. Summary judgments: Evidence. Before a summary judgment may be granted, the moving party must establish that there exists no genuine issue as to any material fact in the case, and that under the facts he is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. Even where there are no conflicting evidentiary facts, a summary judgment is not appropriate if the ultimate inferences to be drawn from those facts are not clear. In considering such a motion, the trial judge must take that view of the evidence most favorable to the party against whom summary judgment is directed, giving to that party the benefit of all favorable inferences that may reasonably be drawn from the evidence.

2. Waters: Statutes: Licenses and Permits: Public Corporations. The Rural Water District Act, sections 46-1001 to 46-1026, R. R. S. 1943, contains no specific requirement that such district must first obtain a permit to construct, install, maintain, and operate wells and other facilities for the storage, transportation, or utilization of water, which are necessary to carry out the purposes of its organization.

3. Waters: Public Corporations: Governmental Subdivisions. A rural water district is not a municipal corporation within the purview of the City, Village and Municipal Corporation Ground Water Permit Act.

Heard before Krivosha, C. J., McCown, Brodkey, and Hastings, JJ., and Stuart, District Judge.

BRODKEY, J.

All the plaintiffs are persons owning real property in Holt County, Nebraska, who have brought this action for declaratory and injunctive relief against the defendant, a rural water district organized pursuant to the provisions of sections 46-1001 to 46-1026, R. R. S. 1943, located in Boyd County, Nebraska. The district owns land located in Holt County, Nebraska, in the general vicinity of the property owned by the plaintiffs. In their petition filed in the District Court for Holt County, plaintiffs, after alleging the status of the respective parties, allege that defendant has constructed a well and a water distribution system upon its property in Holt County for the purpose of withdrawing substantial amounts of ground water from beneath its property in Holt County and for transporting it off that land for use in Boyd County; and that the ground water will be withdrawn from an aquifer which extends under the land owned by the plaintiffs. Plaintiffs further allege in their petition that such withdrawals of ground water will result in a serious depletion and shortage of ground water supply available to plaintiffs for irrigation and domestic use, and that the injury and damage to plaintiffs is irreparable. Plaintiffs further allege that defendant's intended withdrawal and use of ground water located under its land in Holt County is in violation of the American rule of reasonable use because the use will not be on the overlying land, and further is in violation of the law of Nebraska prohibiting the transportation of waters from one watershed to another watershed. Plaintiffs pray that the court declare defendant's intended withdrawal and use of the ground water is unlawful, and permanently enjoin the defendant from such withdrawal and use.

In its answer and counterclaim filed in the action, the defendant admits that it is a public corporation organized under the provisions of the Rural Water District Act and owns land located in Holt County, and alleges that it has drilled test holes on its property and intends to construct two water supply wells on the property and a water distribution system in order to transport the water to Boyd County for use of residents of Boyd County who are without adequate water supplies for domestic purposes. Defendant also alleges there is sufficient ground water for plaintiffs' continued use and also for the use of the defendant, but that even if there is insufficient ground water for that purpose, defendant has priority under section 46-613, R. R. S. 1943, since its intended use is for domestic purposes while the plaintiffs' use is primarily for irrigation. Defendant further alleges the American rule of reasonable use is not applicable to the facts in the case at bar, since there is sufficient water for both plaintiffs and the defendant; and further alleges the intended use by the defendant is within the same water basin as the source of the ground water. Defendant finally alleges that plaintiffs have an adequate remedy at law, and that plaintiffs have not and will not in the future suffer any cognizable injury or damage.

Plaintiffs thereafter filed a motion for a summary judgment requesting the court to grant the prayer set forth in their petition based upon the pleadings, answers to interrogatories, and an affidavit attached to the motion, for the following reasons: "1. There are no genuine issues of material fact. 2. Defendant's actions will be illegal per se under the reasonable use doctrine as adopted by the Supreme Court of Nebraska. 3. Defendant's actions will be illegal per se as a transbasin diversion. 4. As raised in their Reply, Defendant fails to state a cause of action in its counterclaim upon which relief may be granted. * * * In the alternative, Plaintiffs move the Court for a partial Summary Judgment declaring Defendant's actions to be unreasonable per se under the reasonable use doctrine as adopted by the Supreme Court of Nebraska." At the hearing on the motion for summary judgment, there was also introduced in evidence an affidavit of Carl Nuzman, a consulting engineer and expert in ground water hydrology, employed by the plaintiffs, to the effect that the proposed movement of water by the defendant from Holt County into Boyd County will result in movement of water within the same general watershed area. However, there was also introduced in evidence at the hearing an affidavit from Ralph Marlette from the Department of Civil Engineering of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, whose specialty was in the area of river engineering and ground water hydrology, who was also retained to consult with and appear as an expert witness on behalf of the plaintiffs in this case, and he stated in his affidavit: "That the proposed movement of water by defendant from Holt County into Boyd County will result in movement of water from the Niobrara River Watershed into the Ponca Creek Watershed, each of which is independent of one another and flows into the Missouri river." It is obvious that the affidavits of the above two experts, both employed by the plaintiffs, were in direct contradiction to each other on the issue of transbasin diversion.

Defendant contends, however, that the trial judge, on his own motion and without notice, raised a new issue at the hearing on summary judgment as to whether the Rural Water District was required to obtain a permit under the City, Village and Municipal Corporation Ground Water Permit Act, sections 46-638 to 46-650, R. R. S. 1943, before it could withdraw and transport ground water off its land in Holt County to its patrons in Boyd County; and that if it had had notice that the trial judge was raising the issue of whether it needed a permit in accordance with that act, it would have introduced evidence at the hearing pertinent to that issue. We must therefore examine the record in this case to determine upon what basis or for what reason the court sustained plaintiffs' motion for a summary judgment.

The order of the court, entered on August 28, 1978, provides, in pertinent part, as follows: "The matter was heard, and the same submitted, and the Court being advised finds from the pleadings and the evidence and taking judicial notice of the provisions of Sections 46-638 through 46-655, R. S. Nebr. 1943, Reissue 1974, that the Defendant's well is illegal, and that the Plaintiff's Motion should be granted.

"IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Defendant should be, and it is hereby enjoined permanently from the exportation of groundwater from and for use off of the Defendant's land located in Holt County, Nebraska, until application is made and permit granted by the Director of Water Resources of the State of Nebraska, authorizing such action." The language of the order itself, therefore, would seem to support defendant's contention that the court's reason in sustaining plaintiffs' motion for a summary judgment for injunctive relief was based on the fact that it felt the defendant's well or wells were illegal because of the fact a permit had not been obtained. The bill of exceptions covering the hearing on the motion for summary judgment is enlightening in this regard, especially the comments of the trial judge evidencing his reasoning, and also the colloquy between counsel and the court at that time; and we quote certain pertinent portions thereof.

The record reveals that early in the hearing on the motion for summary judgment, the trial court stated: "Before we get into extended dissertation on the merits of this case, I am concerned about the question raised on the last page of the brief of Mr. Griffin and Mr. Rozmarin that states simply, 'Secondly, even if defendant could properly raise the issue as pleaded, it must at least exhaust administrative remedies available with the Natural Resources District, in whom the Legislature placed authority under the Groundwater Management Act of 1975.' I note from reading all of the cases cited with reference to water, they arise by reason of application made to the old Department of Roads and Irrigation, and more recently an application made to the director of water resources. He makes the determination of whether or not to issue a permit, and it is appealed from there to the Supreme Court. There is nothing in the pleadings to indicate that any procedure seeking authority to drill a well anywhere was ever made by the Rural Water District No. 2 of Boyd County, Nebraska. MR. SEGLIN: That is correct, Your Honor. THE COURT: Nowhere. Well, I note from reading your empowering statutes that at least you must have sought the approval of the director of water resources and the Department of Health. This, in forming your district. MR. SEGLIN: Yes. THE COURT: Was that done? MR. SEGLIN: Yes. THE COURT: All right. Sections 46-638 through 46-655 provide for the procedure of municipal water suppliers to obtain a license or permit from the Department of Water Resources, and this district would, under the general definitions of municipal corporations, seem to be a municipal corporation. MR. SEGLIN: I disagree with that, Your Honor. THE COURT: I know you might well disagree with it, but it is a municipal -- it is a subdivision of the state, and generally in the -- its general authority is as a municipal corporation, and these are my concerns before we reach the general merits of the case that you discussed at an extended length, and I am not sure that you have it -- that it is properly before me on the merits of the case, and it should have been developed by a hearing on application for permit, and I also note in the section which provides the authority for a rural water district, that their condemnation power is limited to land within the district, which would indicate they could not have condemned land outside the district for purpose of production of water. MR. SEGLIN: That is correct, Your Honor. The land was not condemned; it was purchased. * * * THE COURT: That is my problem from reading your briefs and searching through the statutes that deal with this case, and reading most of the cases that you have cited to me, and all of the cases that are of any substance that you cite to me arise by reason of an application made to the present Department of Water Resources, and formerly to the Department of Roads and Irrigation, which supervised the statutory procedures before that time, and I think this is entirely a proper matter to resolve on a motion for summary judgment. MR. SEGLIN: Your Honor, for the record, I may point out that those points that you are raising were not raised in the plaintiff's petition, nor challenged by the plaintiffs, and accordingly -- THE COURT: Well, you assert a right to do these things in your answer, and I wonder where that right develops from? MR. SEGLIN: That right, Your Honor, develops from the statute. The statute gives the district, as pointed out in the district's brief, certain rights to do things. It is our contention that it is not necessary to obtain a permit like municipalities do, since we are not under that statute. THE COURT: Your are not a municipal corporation? MR. SEGLIN: Well, we are a political subdivision, but we are governed by a specific statute which authorizes -- the sole purpose that a rural water district has is to bring water to people that do not have water. Now, it seems to me that the legislature carved that out as a specific purpose and authority for a rural water district, and municipalities, of course, can do many things." The court also stated: "And, of course, by the reading of that statute, it applies to any entity that attempts to drill a well in a district formed under the Groundwater Control Act, and that would definitely apply to a rural water district, or anyone.

"So, I am finding that it is -- that the rural water district has failed to avail itself of the necessary permits to be pumping water from the tract of land described in the petition of the plaintiffs, and the Court does enjoin pumping until proper permits are obtained. MR. SEGLIN: Your Honor, is that the permit under that one section of the statute that you mentioned. THE COURT: Under the municipalities. That is the one I find applies. This is not within a district -- groundwater control district, so those sections would not apply; but this is a governmental subdivision developed to provide water, and must have a permit issued by the Department of Rural Water Resources before it can pump water from this land. MR. SEGLIN: Your Honor, is that your final decision that you are entering in this court? THE COURT: Yes, that is the order of this Court. I think I should clarify that by further finding that the well is an illegal well, and therefore enjoined. MR. SEGLIN: Your Honor, might I inquire as to illegal in what respect? THE COURT: It is beyond domestic uses on the land and requires a permit, and therefore it is an illegal well under the terms of the statute. * * * MR. SEGLIN: On behalf of the defendant, I would move at this time that you set your order aside on the basis that the defendant has not had an opportunity to brief that issue for the Court, and the issue is not, at this time, properly before the Court on a motion raised by the plaintiffs. * * * We have not had an opportunity to be heard on that issue. The Court raising it on its own motion took the defendant by complete surprise. We did not have the opportunity to brief the matter." The court overruled the defendant's motion.

Subsequently, at the hearing on defendant's motion for a new trial, Mr. Sedgwick, who, along with Mr. Seglin, were attorneys for the defendant, stated as follows: "The Court's earlier order found that the well of the defendant was illegal due to the fact that a permit had not been applied for or obtained from the Department of Water Resources, pursuant to 46-638 and the statutes that follow. In light of the Court's ruling, we would ask the Court to reconsider three aspects of the Court's decision. We recognize the wide discretion granted to the Court; but we feel that a fairer procedure should have been to permit the defendants the opportunity to brief and argue the point raised by the Court, since it had not been previously raised by the parties. The second point we would ask the Court to take a look at is to consider that the act is not applicable to a municipal corporation, unless that municipal corporation supplies water to cities and villages, and there was no evidence that the defendant is supplying water to cities and villages. The third point was that if the Court feels that the act is applicable to the defendant, we would suggest that the act is not a mandatory act but a discretionary act. The statute talks about an applicant which desires to avail itself of the act, and therefore, failure to follow the act would not make the defendant's well illegal. * * * THE COURT: I am not opposed to giving you some time to brief this thing. Now, I did read the entire water resources statute, and my impression from it was that, especially if you are going outside the territorial limits of your district, you are a municipality, and it is intended that that statute apply to municipalities."

It seems clear from a reading of the above-quoted portions of the hearings on the motion for summary judgment that the court decided the issue primarily, if not entirely, on the basis that the defendant was required to obtain a permit before digging its well on its own property in Holt County. Nowhere in the record does it appear that the court discussed, ruled upon, or found that there were no genuine issues of material facts present in the case. The final order of the court on the motion for rehearing, as set out above, merely finds that the defendant's well is illegal, but no finding is made thereon with reference to whether the evidence or facts necessary to prove such illegality might not be in dispute, and thus require a trial before the finder of facts to determine that issue. The rules relating to the issuance of summary judgments have often been considered and are well settled in this jurisdiction. They are well summarized in Reeves v. Associates Financial Services Co., Inc., 197 Neb. 107, 247 N. W. 2d 434 (1976), where we stated: "The rules as to summary judgments are well-established in this jurisdiction. 'The moving party is not entitled to summary judgment except where there exists no genuine issue as to any material fact in the case and where under the facts he is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.' Green v. Village of Terrytown, 189 Neb. 615, 204 N. W. 2d 152 (1973). The issue on a motion for summary judgment is whether or not there is a genuine issue as to any material fact, and not how that issue should be determined. In considering such a motion, the trial court must take that view of the evidence most favorable to the party against whom summary judgment is directed, giving to that party the benefit of all favorable inferences that may reasonably be drawn from the evidence. Valentine Production Credit Assn. v. Spencer Foods, Inc., 196 Neb. 119, 241 N. W. 2d 541 (1976); Farmland Service Coop., Inc. v. Klein, 196 Neb. 538, 244 N. W. 2d 86 (1976). This court has stated that summary judgment is not appropriate even where there are no conflicting evidentiary facts if the ultimate inferences to be drawn from those facts are not clear. Barnes v. Milligan, 196 Neb. 50, 241 N. W. 2d 508 (1976). Thus, 'Summary judgment is an extreme remedy and should be awarded only when the issue is clear beyond all doubt.' Barnes v. Milligan, supra, at p. 53."

A review of the record in this case convinces us that under the issues of this case, as framed by the pleadings of the parties, there exist genuine issues of material facts. An obvious example is on the issue of whether there has been or will be a transbasin diversion of water, an issue raised by the plaintiffs, where the two expert witnesses employed by the plaintiffs apparently hold diametrically opposing views on that issue, as exemplified by their affidavits in the record. Other fact questions subject to dispute between the parties will undoubtedly be the amount of the water supply in the aquifer underlying the land owned by the plaintiffs and the defendant in Holt County; and there are also fact issues, not presently resolved by the record, relating to the right of the Rural Water District to appropriate and put to good use the water lying beneath its land, and whether the plaintiffs will experience any harm or damage as a result of the Rural Water District's use of the water. These, and other issues, must be resolved factually, as well as legally, on a remand of this case to the District Court for trial on the merits.

Since the trial court apparently placed much emphasis and reliance upon the proposition that the defendant was required to first obtain a permit before digging its wells, and that therefore the wells in question were illegal wells and must be enjoined, we believe it will be helpful and desirable for us to comment briefly upon this issue. At the outset, we note that the Rural Water District Act, under which defendant was organized, being sections 46-1001 to 46-1026, R. R. S. 1943, nowhere required the District to obtain a permit to dig wells for the purpose of supplying water to their patrons in need thereof, and, in fact, specifically authorizes the transportation of water into their district for that purpose. § 46-1003, R. R. S. 1943. Plaintiffs argue, however, that notwithstanding this fact the defendant was obligated to obtain such a permit under the provisions of the "City, Village and Municipal Corporation Ground Water Permit Act." §§ 46-638 to 46-650, R. R. S. 1943.

Even assuming it is mandatory under that act to apply for and obtain a permit, we do not believe that a rural water district is a city, village, or municipal corporation within the purview of that act which sets up the purpose, and the procedure to be employed, in forming such a district. While a rural water district may well be a public corporation, our court has recognized the distinction between them. In Bliss v. Pathfinder Irrigation District, 122 Neb. 203, 240 N. W. 291 (1932), we stated: "Corporations are generally classed as public and private. While a municipality is a public corporation, it does not follow that every public corporation is a municipality. In 1 Dillon, Municipal Corporations (5th ed.) 58, sec. 31, the term 'municipal corporation' is defined as follows: 'A municipal corporation, in its strict and proper sense, is the body politic and corporate constituted by the incorporation of the inhabitants of the city or town for the purposes of local government thereof. Municipal corporations as they exist in this country are bodies politic and corporate of the general character above described, established by law partly as an agency of the state to assist in the civil government of the country, but chiefly to regulate and administer the local or internal affairs of the city, town, or district which is incorporated.' A like definition is found in 43 C. J. 65, and in the same volume, at page 72, we find the following with respect to public corporations: 'Public corporations are all those created specially for public purposes as instruments or agencies to increase the efficiency of government, supply public wants, and promote the public welfare. Public corporations are classified as municipal, quasi-municipal, and public-quasi corporations. Public corporations include not only municipal corporations, but also all other incorporated agencies of government of whatever size and form or degree of organization. While all municipal corporations are public corporations, all public corporations are not municipal corporations.'

"In 43 C. J. 73, it is said: 'There is a want of harmony in the decisions relating to what local subdivisions are embraced by the phrase "municipal corporations." There are many public bodies which are not corporations in the full sense but resemble them in that they have some of the attributes of a corporation, and which are therefore called quasi corporations. Some of these are almost perfect in their organization and scarcely distinguishable from municipal corporations. Others represent the lowest order of corporate life, with few powers and imperfect organization. Between these two extremes are a large number of districts erected as agencies of government, of diverse names and objects, with varying degrees of organization; sometimes styled political, sometimes public, sometimes civil; including counties, towns, townships, school districts, drainage districts, highway districts, improvement districts, hospital districts, irrigation districts * * * and all other sections of territory delimited and organized for the performance of certain governmental functions; * * * such bodies are not "municipal corporations" or "municipalities" in the proper sense.'" Id. at p. 205-206.

While we have never specifically passed upon the status of a water district in this state, we have on numerous occasions made such a determination with respect to irrigation districts. In Loup County v. Rumbaugh, 151 Neb. 563, 38 N. W. 2d 745 (1949), we stated: "Irrigation districts organized under our laws are public, rather than municipal corporations, and their officers are public agents of the state." Board of Directors of Alfaifa Irrigation District v. Collins, 46 Neb. 411, 64 N. W. 1086; Lincoln & Dawson County Irrigation District v. McNeal, 60 Neb. 613, 83 N. W. 847; Platte Valley Public Power & Irrigation District v. County of Lincoln, 144 Neb. 584, 14 N. W. 2d 202, 155 A. L. R. 412; Draver v. Greenshields and Everest Co., supra; Elliott v. Calamus Irrigation District, supra." By analogy, we hold that a rural water district is not a municipal corporation as used in the act, even though it may be a public corporation, and therefore the requirements of the act are not applicable, at least so far as any mandatory requirement that a permit be obtained.

In view of what we have stated above, we reverse the decision of the District Court, and remand the matter for a trial on the merits.

REVERSED AND REMANDED.

STATE EX REL. BLOME

V.

BRIDGEPORT IRR. DIST.

203 Nebr. 776, 280 NW2nd 75

42352

Filed December 18, 1979

1. Mandamus. To warrant the issue of peremptory writ of mandamus to compel the performance of a legal duty to act: (1) The duty must be imposed by law; (2) The duty must still exist at the time the writ is applied for; and (3) the duty to act must be clear.

2. Waters: Property. The principal purpose for the organization of an irrigation district is to furnish water for irrigation to all the landowners within the district upon fair and equitable terms and conditions.

3. All water distributed for irrigation purposes shall attach to and follow the tract of land to which it is applied. An irrigation district has a duty to procure the necessary right-of-way and deliver water on fair and equitable terms and conditions to each tract of land subject to assessment.

4. Waters: Administrative Law: Jurisdiction. The Department of Water Resources has original and exclusive jurisdiction to hear and adjudicate all matters pertaining to water rights for irrigation and other purposes, including jurisdiction to cancel and terminate such rights.

5. Waters: Property: Statutes. An irrigation district has no power to cancel or terminate the water rights of a landowner, nor can it suspend delivery of water except for nonpayment of taxes and assessments as provided by statute and the by-laws of the district.

6. Waters: Property. An irrigation district has a duty to deliver water to each tract of land subject to assessment, and the determination of whether one or more than one point of delivery to a tract is required must be made on a case-by-case basis. The point or points of water delivery reasonably required on any given tract of land must be determined upon the basis of what is just and equitable under the facts and circumstances of each case.

7. Mandamus: Appeal and Error. An action in mandamus is a law action in which a jury trial on issues of fact is not demandable as a matter of right, and the finding of the District Court will not be disturbed by this court on appeal unless clearly wrong.

Heard before Krivosha, C. J., Boslaugh, McCown, Clinton, Brodkey, White, and Hastings, JJ.

McCOWN, J.

In this action the plaintiffs sought a peremptory writ of mandamus to require defendant irrigation district to take the necessary action to deliver water to the highest point on plaintiffs' land so as to allow them to irrigate all the irrigable land in the acreage, some of which cannot now be irrigated from the present point of delivery. The District Court granted the writ and the irrigation district has appealed.

The land involved is a quarter section of farmland in Morrill County, Nebraska, except for a small triangular tract in the northeast corner. The land consists of approximately 146 acres and is included in the defendant Bridgeport Irrigation District. Irrigation district taxes have been assessed and paid at all times relevant here.

Plaintiff Rollin E. Blome's father purchased the land in 1946. Since the death of his father in 1950, the plaintiff, Rollin E. Blome, has farmed the land by himself or with other members of his family, and is now the individual record owner of the land. In 1946 the land was not irrigated, sand had blown up in piles, and most of the land showed the effects of severe wind erosion. At some former time two irrigation ditches connected the land on its southern boundary to an irrigation lateral of the defendant district designated as lateral No. 15. The easterly irrigation ditch entered the Blome land through a siphon under the county road at a point approximately in the center of the south boundary of the land. The westerly irrigation ditch and siphon entered the land approximately 600 feet to the west. The two ditches connected to lateral No. 15 approximately 600 feet south of the center of the south boundary of plaintiff's land. Immediately to the north of the siphon on the east ditch on the south boundary of plaintiffs' land is the present high point of the land after leveling. The high point prior to leveling was near the southwest corner of the land.

Between 1950 and 1961 the land was farmed by dryland summer fallow methods or placed in the soil bank. In 1961 Blome began making plans to bring the land back into production, including plans for leveling the land a little at a time as it could be afforded. Prior to beginning the leveling, Blome consulted the defendant irrigation district about delivery of water to the land and was told that the district could deliver water through the siphons on the southern boundary of the Blome land, and that it would deliver water to those points. Blome then had a survey made of the west 100 acres of the land to determine how it should be leveled so as to allow it to be irrigated from the two points on the southern boundary of the land. The survey did not extend to the east portion of the land at that time, since it was then thought to be too rough.

The leveling program began in 1962 when 55 acres were leveled on the west side of the land and approximately 25 more acres were leveled in 1967. In that year Blome drilled a well and installed a pump at about the center of the south boundary of the land. The pump was originally installed for emergency use but Blome began use of the pump for irrigation purposes in 1968 when irrigation was commenced. For 2 days in 1968 plaintiff also took irrigation water from the box in lateral No. 15 through the east ditch and siphon that entered the Blome land at the center of the south boundary. That effort was abandoned when Blome could not hold the water in the ditches on his own land, although he had no trouble with the ditch or the siphon to the south of his land. Blome leveled another 39 acres to the east in 1969, but did not level the remainder of the eastern portion of the land until 1973.

In 1970 Blome met with two directors of the irrigation district and requested that water be delivered to his land at a point near the southeast corner from lateral No. 16 of the irrigation district which ran north and south along the east side of the land. Blome testified that he told the directors at the time of the request that he wanted the water for the east portion of his land but did not want to compromise his position on having water delivered at the center of the south boundary also. He testified that the directors made no objection to the request, although one of the directors testified that nothing was said about a delivery point on the south boundary.

The defendant irrigation district has delivered water from lateral No. 16 at or near the southeast corner of the land since 1970. In 1971 Blome built a concrete ditch along the south boundary of the land from the southeast corner to approximately the center of the south boundary. That point was approximately 50 feet east of, and approximately 2 feet lower than, the high point of the land. In 1973 the remainder of the eastern portion of the land was leveled. Since that time all the eastern portion of the land has been irrigated with water delivered at the southeast corner of the land from lateral No. 16 through the concrete ditch along the south border.

Because of the elevation of the land Blome could not deliver water from the southeast corner any further west along the south line. To water any of the western portion of the land with water received at the southeast corner, Blome would have to build a curved ditch to the northwest from the west end of the concrete ditch on the south boundary. That method would leave approximately 12 acres in the southwest corner of the land which could not be irrigated from water delivered at the southeast corner.

Since 1968 the westerly portion of the Blome land has been irrigated from the irrigation well and pump installed by Blome. Blome constructed a concrete ditch along the west boundary of the land and pumped the well water to the south end of the concrete ditch to irrigate the western portion of the land.

In general the land leveling provides for the flow of irrigation water from west to east on the westerly portion of the land and from south to north on the easterly portion of the land with distribution designed to be made from the west and south boundaries.

At some time after the completion of the land leveling Blome requested the defendant irrigation district to deliver water to the high point at the center of the south boundary of the land from the box on lateral No. 15, 600 feet to the south. The district refused to procure a right-of-way for a ditch across that 600 feet and to deliver water to the plaintiff at that point.

Sometime prior to August 1976, the plaintiffs here filed a quiet title action against the landowners to the south and the irrigation district, attempting to establish a right-of-way by prescription in either the plaintiffs or the irrigation district on the basis of the old prescriptive use. In August 1977, the District Court entered judgment finding that no prescriptive right-of-way existed since it had been lost by nonuser for more than 10 years. Among the specific findings of fact and conclusions of law in that case, the District Court found that the defendant irrigation district had not fulfilled its lawful obligation to deliver water to the Blomes by delivering water at only one point on the southeast corner of the Blome property.

This action in mandamus was filed in November 1977. On July 24, 1978, the District Court entered its peremptory writ of mandamus commanding the defendants to take the necessary action to deliver water to the highest point on the land of the plaintiffs "so as to allow the plaintiffs to irrigate all of said land by natural causes." The defendants have appealed.

The defendant irrigation district contends that the issuance of a writ of mandamus was improper in this case because the plaintiffs did not have a clear legal right to have water delivered to the highest point on their land.

Section 25-2156, R. R. S. 1943, provides in part: "The writ of mandamus may be issued to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board or person, to compel the performance of an act which the law specifically enjoins as a duty resulting from an office, trust or station."

The writ of mandamus is not a writ of right. Before a court is warranted in granting a peremptory writ, it must appear that the relator has a clear legal right to the performance of the duty by the respondent. To warrant the issue of mandamus against an officer to compel him to act, (1) the duty must be imposed on him by law, (2) the duty must still exist at the time the writ is applied for, and (3) the duty to act must be clear." State ex rel. Goetz v. Lundak, 199 Neb. 585, 260 N. W. 2d 589.

The principal purpose for the organization of an irrigation district is to furnish water for irrigation to all the landowners within the district upon fair and equitable terms and conditions. State, ex rel. Clark v. Gering Irrigation District, 109 Neb. 642, 192 N. W. 212.

By statute the board of directors for the district has the power and duty to "establish equitable by-laws, rules and regulations for the distribution and use of water among the owners" of the lands in the district. § 46-120, R. R. S. 1943.

It is expressly provided by statute that all water distributed for irrigation purposes shall attach to and follow the tract of land to which it is applied; that it shall be the duty of the directors to make all necessary arrangements for right-of-way for lateral "to each tract of land subject to assessment," including the exercise of the power of eminent Domain; and to make such rules in regard to the payment for such right-of-way as may be just and equitable. § 46-122, R. R. S. 1943.

The authorities establish that mandamus is a proper remedy in the present case, and that an irrigation district has a duty to procure the necessary right-of-way and deliver water to each tract of land subject to assessment on fair and equitable terms and conditions.

The defendants also contend that the plaintiffs have lost the water rights attached to the land involved here because they did not take any water from the irrigation district for a continuous period of more than 10 years prior to 1968. The only statutory ground upon which an irrigation district can provide for suspension of water delivery to land in its district is nonpayment of irrigation taxes for 2 years. § 46-122, R. R. S. 1943.

The Department of Water Resources has original and exclusive jurisdiction to hear and adjudicate all matters pertaining to water rights for irrigation and other purposes, including jurisdiction to cancel and terminate such rights. See § 46-209, R. R. S. 1943; Hickman v. Loup River Public Power Dist., 173 Neb. 428, 113 N. W. 2d 617.

The record in this case indicates that proceedings were initiated before the Department of Water Resources attempting to secure cancellation of plaintiffs' water rights. There is no evidence that the Department of Water Resources ever suspended or canceled any of the water rights of the plaintiffs. It is also obvious that during all the years in question the defendant irrigation district was appropriating water under the water rights of the plaintiffs for distribution to all the landowners in the district. There is no evidence whatever that the water rights of the plaintiffs have been canceled, nor that the appropriation rights of the defendant irrigation district have been affected in any way because of the plaintiffs' failure to take delivery of water for a period of years. The defendant irrigation district has no power to cancel or terminate the water rights of the plaintiffs, nor can it suspend delivery of water except for nonpayment of taxes and assessments as provided by statute and the by-laws of the district.

The critical issue in this case is whether or not it is fair and equitable to require an irrigation district to deliver water at more than one point on a 146-acre tract of land within the district. The defendants contend that an irrigation district cannot be required to deliver water at more than one point, even though delivery from that point will not irrigate all the irrigable land in the tract.

At the present time water delivered by the irrigation district at the southeast corner of the Blome land is used to irrigate only the eastern portion of the land. The evidence establishes that by constructing a ditch on the Blome land running northwesterly from the south center of the land to the west boundary, water delivered at the southeast corner could also be used to irrigate the westerly portion of the land, except for approximately 12 acres in the southwest corner. The evidence also establishes that all the westerly portion of the land, including the 12 acres in the southwest corner, could be irrigated by delivery in the center of the south boundary at the point requested by the plaintiffs. The evidence also establishes that the surveying and leveling of the westerly portion of the land was done upon an understanding with the district that water would be delivered at the point in the center of the south boundary.

The defendants contend that more than one outlet on any tract of land constitutes a multiplicity of outlets and is forbidden by section 46-258, R. R. S. 1943. That section does not prohibit multiplicity of outlets, even if the section were applicable, but states only that they should be avoided. In any event, it is not part of the irrigation district act and does not affect the duty of the district to furnish water. If applicable at all, it only prescribes upon whom the duty to construct outlets rests. State, ex rel. Clark v. Gering Irrigation District, 109 Neb. 642, 192 N. W. 212.

There can be no doubt that all appropriations of water for irrigation purposes since 1895 are inseparable from and appurtenant to the specific land. United States v. Tilley, 124 F. 2d 850 (8th Cir., 1941). Section 46-122, R. R. S. 1943, provides that all water distributed for irrigation purposes shall attach to and follow the tract of land to which it is applied. If the plaintiffs' rights to receive irrigation water attach to the tract of land, those rights should be effective as to all the irrigable land and not merely part of it. It is clear that the Legislature intended that only land which could be benefited by an irrigation district was to be included within the district. §§ 46-107 and 46-108, R. R. S. 1943. The entire tract owned by plaintiffs is included in the district and irrigation taxes have been paid on all the land, including the 12 acres which cannot be irrigated from the southeast corner by natural causes. Defendants' position is that the request by Blome for delivery of water at the southeast corner to irrigate the eastern portion of the land constituted a waiver of a right to have water delivered at any other point or point to irrigate the remainder of the land. Defendants cite no authority in support of that proposition and the evidence fails to establish any waiver, explicit or implied, or any intention to waive any rights by the plaintiffs.

An irrigation district has a duty to deliver water to each tract of land subject to assessment, and the determination of whether one or more than one point of delivery to a tract is required must be made on a case-by-case basis. The point or points of water delivery reasonably required on any given tract of land must be determined upon the basis of what is just and equitable under the facts and circumstances of each case. The traditional concept that each tract of land is different is particularly significant here. The size of the tract; the elevations of possible points of delivery; the topography and the nature of the soil; the location and availability of alternative or additional sources of water supply; and the comparative advantages and disadvantages to the landowner and the irrigation district should all be considered in determining what is just and equitable in each case.

In the case now before us the trial court personally viewed the premises and determined that it was just and equitable to require the defendant irrigation district to deliver water to the highest point on plaintiffs' land in the center of the south boundary, in addition to the delivery of water at the southeast corner of the plaintiffs' land. An action in mandamus is a law action in which a jury trial on issues of fact is not demandable as a matter of right, and the finding of the District Court will not be disturbed by this court on appeal unless clearly wrong. State ex rel. Goetz v. Lundak, 199 Neb. 585, 260 N. W. 2d 589.

The evidence in this case supports the findings of fact and conclusions of law of the trial court. The trial court's action in issuing the peremptory writ of mandamus was correct and is affirmed.

AFFIRMED.

1. Transbasin Diversion: Irrigation. The unappropriated waters of every natural stream within the State of Nebraska may be diverted from one basin to another, except when such diversion is contrary to the public interest, in which case it shall be denied.

2. Statutes. Where the language of a statute is plain and unambiguous, no interpretation is needed and the court is without authority to change the language.

3. In interpreting the meaning of a statutory provision the whole provision should be read in order to arrive at a conclusion as to its proper meaning.

4. Courts should give statutory language its plain and ordinary meaning.

5. A statute is not to be read as if open to construction as a matter of course. Where the words of a statute are plain, direct, and unambiguous, no interpretation is needed to ascertain the meaning.

6. In the construction of a statute, no sentence, clause, or word should be rejected as meaningless or superfluous.

7. Statutes: Repeal of Statutes. Repeals by implication are not favored. A statute will not be considered repealed by implication unless the repugnancy between the new provision and the former statute is plain and unavoidable.

KRIVOSHA, C. J.

The present appeal calls upon this court to decide whether transbasin diversion is prohibited by either the Constitution or the laws of the State of Nebraska. While the resolution of that issue is of great importance, the issue necessary to determine that matter is extremely narrow. We believe that a reading of the pertinent sections of both the Nebraska Constitution and the applicable statutes leads us to the inescapable conclusion that transbasin diversion is not prohibited in Nebraska. We must, therefore, reverse and remand this matter to the director of the Department of Water Resources for further proceedings in accordance with this opinion.

The Little Blue Natural Resources District appeals from the order of the director of the Department of Water Resources dismissing its applications for authority to divert and store water from the Platte River for irrigation purposes.

The applications, which were filed on November 28, 1977, were dismissed without prejudice by the director on January 5, 1978. Pursuant to the rules of the department, the applicant then filed petitions for rehearing. Objections were filed by numerous parties including riparian owners, natural resources districts, and municipalities. After a lengthy hearing, the director denied the applications. From that order the applicant has appealed to this court.

The applicant is a natural resources district established under Neb. Rev. Stat. § 2-3203 (Reissue 1977). Its territory includes parts of Adams, Webster, Clay, Nuckolls, Fillmore, Thayer, and Jefferson Counties. Much of the farmland within the district is suitable to irrigation but is farmed as dryland because of the lack of a ground water aquifer. An irrigation project was conceived and developed by the district to provide supplemental water to this area.

The project as proposed by the district contains three service areas. The North Service Area would be located generally in southeastern Kearney County, southwestern Adams County, and northwestern Webster County. The Central Service Area would be located generally in northern Webster County south of Campbell, Bladen, and Blue Hill. The East Service Area would be located generally in northeastern Webster County, northwestern Nuckolls County, and southwestern Clay County. The project includes a reservoir to be constructed on the Little Blue River northwest of Campbell, Nebraska, in Franklin County.

Water to supply the project would be diverted from the Platte River and transported through canals to the reservoir near Campbell. The applications which were filed by the district were for authority to divert 450 cubic feet of water per second of time from the river and to store 125,000 acre-feet of water in the reservoir near Campbell.

The Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, generally known as Tri-County, operates a supply canal south of the Platte River which transports water from a diversion dam on the Platte River east of North Platte, Nebraska, to a point near Overton, Nebraska, where the supply canal joins the Phelps County canal, a major irrigation canal operated by Tri-County. A wasteway located at this junction is used to return water to the river when it is not to be used for irrigation purposes. A gate located at the junction is used to send water in the supply canal into the Phelps County canal or into the wasteway.

The Little Blue project contemplates taking water at this structure, which would otherwise be returned through the wasteway to the river, and carrying it to the Campbell reservoir for storage for use during the following season. The plan contemplates the use of the Phelps County canal to a point near Axtell, Nebraska, where a new supply canal would be constructed which would connect with the Little Blue River southwest of Minden, Nebraska.

Since the Tri-County district would be using water for irrigation during the months of April through August, the Little Blue project would use the flow in the supply canal from September until January and would take only water which would otherwise be returned to the Platte River through the wasteway.

Although the parties raised some controversy as to the point of diversion, we think it is clear that the point of diversion is the location of the wasteway in the Platte River and it is of no importance that the Little Blue project proposes to take the water at the structure where the supply canal joins the Phelps County canal. It would indeed be wasteful to compel the construction of a new diversion dam to recapture the water after it has been discharged into the river. The plan which the Little Blue project has devised is the legal equivalent of such a method and the point of diversion is the location of the wasteway where it joins the Platte River.

The director found there was unappropriated water in the Platte River sufficient to meet the demands of the proposed project, but that approval of the applications would result in water for irrigation purposes being taken from the Platte River and applied to land outside the basin of the Platte River, contrary to the rules announced by this court in Osterman v. Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, 131 Neb. 356, 268 N.W. 334 (1936). The director concluded that the Osterman case was controlling and, for that reason, the department was without authority to approve the applications. The applicant has appealed from the order denying the applications.

The finding of the director that there was unappropriated water in the Platte River sufficient to meet the demands of the proposed project is sustained by the record. The evidence shows that, after Lake McConaughy became filled in 1941, an average of more than 500,000 acre-feet of water has been discharged into the river through the Johnson wasteway near Overton, Nebraska, each year. In 1956, the year of the lowest discharge, 298,800 acre-feet of water was returned to the river through the wasteway. The average yearly river flow as measured at the Overton gauge downstream from the Johnson wasteway, but not including the discharge from the wasteway, has amounted to over 500,000 acre-feet. This evidence sustains a finding that there is sufficient unappropriated water to satisfy the applicant's appropriation of 125,000 acre-feet per year. If, in any particular year and for any reason, there was not sufficient water to satisfy the applicant's appropriation, the needs of the prior appropriators would be satisfied first, in accordance with the laws and regulations governing the appropriation of water, and the applicant would be restricted to the amount of water available for its use.

The narrow issue we need consider is whether, as urged by the appellees, our previous decision in Osterman is correct and transbasin diversion is prohibited in this state; or whether, as urged by the appellant, we should overrule the Osterman case and permit transbasin diversion and the instant project.

The Osterman case involved applications by the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, generally known as Tri-County, to divert and store water from the Platte River for power purposes and to irrigate land in Gosper, Phelps, Kearney, and Adams Counties. Approximately 60 percent of the water to be used for irrigation purposes would have been transported out of the Platte River basin and applied to lands within the basin of the Blue River.

In the Osterman case, this court declared that, at common law, the right to use water was limited to the owners of riparian lands and, of necessity, there was "no right to transport waters beyond or over the divide or watershed that enclosed the source from which obtained." Id. at 366, 268 N.W. at 339. Then, from an analysis of various sections of the 1889, 1893, and 1895 irrigation statutes and amendments, and without citing any constitutional provisions, this court declared that § 46-620, Comp. Stat. 1929, now Neb. Rev. Stat. § 46-265 (Reissue 1978), was controlling over § 46-508, Comp. Stat. 1929, now Neb. Rev. Stat. § 46-206 (Reissue 1978), and prohibited any irrigation ditch or canal from crossing the divide or watershed so that unused waters applied to the land would be prevented from being returned to the source from which they were taken. The opinion concluded that "water for irrigation and power purposes taken from the Platte river or its tributaries may not be lawfully diverted over and beyond the southern watershed of that stream and applied to lands situated without the basin of the Platte river . . ." Id. at 370, 268 N.W. at 340-41. The orders appealed from were set aside and the cause remanded to the Department of Roads and Irrigation with directions to grant leave, if desired, to amend the applications to limit the use of the diverted waters to lands within the Platte River watershed.

Following the remand of the proceedings to the Department of Roads and Irrigation, the applications were amended in accordance with the directions of this court and, as amended, the applications were granted. The orders granting the applications provided that the water appropriated should not be "diverted over and beyond the watershed of the Platte River and applied to lands situated without the basin of the Platte River." Cozad Ditch Co. v. Central Nebraska Public Power & Irrigation Dist., 132 Neb. 547, 549, 272 N.W. 560, 561 (1937). Subsequent appeals from the orders of the Department of Roads were dismissed. See, Cozad Ditch Co. v. Central Nebraska Public Power & Irrigation Dist.; Osterman v. Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District.

The Osterman decision and the problems related thereto have been the subject of several law review articles, all of which have been critical of the conclusions reached therein. See, Doyle, Water Rights in Nebraska, 29 Neb. L. Rev. 385 (1950); Comment, Waters and Water Courses, 15 Neb. L. Bull. 271 (1937); Yeutter, A Legal-Economic Critique of Nebraska Watercourse Law, 44 Neb. L. Rev. 11 (1965); Oeltjen Harnsberger, & Fischer Interbasin Transfers: Nebraska Law and Legend, 51 Neb. L. Rev. 87 (1971).

Our reading of the Nebraska Constitution and statutes applicable thereto, as well as our subsequent decisions in Ainsworth Irr. Dist. v. Bejot, 170 Neb. 257, 102 N.W.2d 416 (1960), and Metropolitan Utilities Dist. v. Merritt Beach Co., 179 Neb. 783, 140 N.W.2d 626 (1966), leads us to the conclusion that it is appropriate for us to reexamine our holding in the Osterman case.

The language of the Nebraska Constitution is clear and unambiguous with regard to the use of water. Neb. Const. art. XV, § 4, unequivocally provides: "The necessity of water for domestic use and for irrigation purposes in the State of Nebraska is hereby declared to be a natural want." The full impact of that provision has, in recent times, become so clear that further or additional reference or citation to support that declaration is unnecessary.

Neb. Const. art. XV, § 5, provides: "The use of the water of every natural stream within the State of Nebraska is hereby dedicated to the people of the state for beneficial purposes, subject to the provisions of the following section." It is significant to note that the quoted section refers to the use of the water of every natural stream being dedicated to "the people." Nothing in art. XV, § 5, indicates or authorizes limiting the use of the water of every natural stream to within a particular watershed basin or dedicating its use to the people living within a particular watershed basin. Quite to the contrary, the clear and unambiguous language constitutionally mandates that the use of every stream, regardless of its location, be dedicated to all of the people of the state, regardless of their location, and not just to those who happen to live within the confines of a particular valley or watershed basin. Nowhere within the Constitution can such limiting words be found.

That fact is further made clear when one looks at Neb. Const. art. XV, § 6, is to guarantee the right to divert unappropriated waters and to prohibit the denial of such diversion except when demanded by public interest.

The language of art. XV, § 6, makes no distinction concerning a particular watershed district or basin but, quite to the contrary, prohibits denying the right to divert unappropriated waters except when demanded by the public interest. Nothing in the history of the constitutional provisions cited above, nor the language itself, in any manner justifies limiting the use of such waters to a particular basin or watershed.

The Osterman decision totally ignored the provisions of the Nebraska Constitution and relied solely upon the provisions of what is now Neb. Rev. Stat. § 46-265 (Reissue 1978), and what was formerly § 46-620 Comp. Stat. 1929. It reads as follows:

The owner or owners of any irrigation ditch or canal shall carefully maintain the embankments thereof so as to prevent waste therefrom, and shall return the unused water from such ditch or canal with as little waste thereof as possible to the stream from which such water was taken, or to the Missouri River.

(Emphasis supplied). The Osterman court concluded that the phrase "or to the Missouri River" had no application, was not a part of the statute, and should be ignored. The court, therefore, concluded that former § 46-620 prohibited transbasin diversion.

There is no basis, however, to conclude that the phrase "or to the Missouri River" has no meaning. All of the water of the State of Nebraska empties into the Missouri River and, therefore, it must be concluded that diversion may occur so long as the unused portion of the water is not in some manner unnecessarily impounded or wasted and is returned to its natural stream of origin or to the Missouri River.

The Osterman decision further concluded that former § 46-508, now § 46-206, which provides:

The water appropriated from a river or stream shall not be turned or permitted to run into the waters or channel of any other river or stream than that from which it is taken or appropriated, unless such stream exceeds in width one hundred feet, in which event not more than seventy-five per cent of the regular flow shall be taken.

(emphasis supplied), was superseded by the provisions of § 46-620 and should be disregarded.

Cardinal rules of statutory construction, however, prohibit us from ignoring entire phrases of a statute or giving the plain meaning of a statute a strained or absurd interpretation. "Where the language of a statute is plain and unambiguous, no interpretation is needed and the court is without authority to change the language." City of Grand Island v. County of Hall, 196 Neb. 282, 286, 242 N.W.2d 858, 861 (1976).

In interpreting the meaning of a statutory provision, the whole provision should be read in order to arrive at a conclusion as to its proper meaning. Pettigrew v. Home Ins. Co., 191 Neb. 312, 214 N.W.2d 920 (1974). Moreover, courts should give statutory language its plain and ordinary meaning. State v. One 1970 2-Door Sedan Rambler, 191 Neb. 462, 215 N.W.2d 849 (1974); Connors v. Pantano, 165 Neb. 515, 86 N.W.2d 367 (1957).

The statutory language is clear and unambiguous and does not require us to do more than read its plain meaning. "A statute is not to be read as if open to construction as a matter of course. Where the words of a statute are plain, direct, and unambiguous, no interpretation is needed to ascertain the meaning." City of Scottsbluff v. Tiemann, 185 Neb. 256, 264, 175 N.W.2d 74, 80 (1970) (emphasis in original). Furthermore, "in the construction of a statute, no sentence, clause, or word should be rejected as meaningless or superfluous . . ." Weiss v. Union Ins. Co., 202 Neb. 469, 473, 276 N.W.2d 88, 92 (1979). Repeals by implication are not favored. A statute will not be considered repealed by implication unless the repugnancy between the new provision and the former statute is plain and unavoidable. City of Grand Island v. County of Hall, supra.

With these rules of construction in mind, we have no alternative but to recognize that both §§ 46-265 and 46-206 remain in effect and should be given meaning. If transbasin diversion is prohibited entirely, as urged by appellees, then the last clause of § 46-206, permitting the diversion of up to 75 percent of the water from a stream more than 100 feet wide is meaningless.

When we then give both sections of the statute their plain meaning, we are left with no other conclusion but that, if a stream is more than 100 feet wide, up to 75 percent of the water not otherwise appropriated may be diverted so long as no waste is permitted, the unused portion is returned to its stream of origin or permitted to find its way back to the Missouri River, and the public interest does not otherwise require that such diversion be denied.

We avoided that conclusion in the Ainsworth decision by simply holding that the streams in question were in the same watershed district. The distinction was, at best, tenuous and, while it may have avoided for us the need to decide the issue, it did not change the fact that the law, in fact, prohibits denying transbasin diversion unless the public interest demands it.

When finally we reached the Metropolitan Utilities case, we were no longer able to make such fine distinctions and were required to face the transbasin diversion issue. In the Metropolitan Utilities case, supra at 800, 140 N.W.2d at 637, we said: "Where the reasonable use of the riparian landowner is not impaired, the public interest demands that such waters be applied to a needed public purpose rather than be lost by proceeding unmolested to the sea." We recognize the right of all Nebraskans to share the water of the state.

In Osterman, supra at 362, 268 N.W. at 337, we said:

It would be a sad commentary on our political organization, upon the department of roads and irrigation, and upon this reviewing court, if in rationing this necessity of life this beautiful valley should be left with a dry river bed and ruined farms because of any mistaken theory that the protection of its natural fertility did not constitute a public interest within the policy of our laws.

We agree with that statement and believe that, under the provisions of our Constitution dealing with water, it is applicable to the entire state so long as the public interest does not otherwise demand. Would it not be a far sadder commentary if, in rationing this necessity of life, large areas of the state outside a particular valley were ruined while unappropriated water flowed into the Missouri River and on to other states.

When there is insufficient water to meet all needs, the Director of Water Resources may, under the law, limit the removal of water in accordance with statutorily established priorities similar to the restrictions imposed by the director and set out in Cozad Ditch Co. v. Central Nebraska Public Power & Irrigation Dist., supra. Under our present Constitution and statutes, the determination of what constitutes a public interest sufficient to either limit or deny, as the situation may demand, the right to remove unappropriated waters from a stream must, in the first instance, be determined by the director. The Constitution tells us that the desire and need for water for domestic and irrigation purposes is a "natural want" of all our citizens and we should not unnecessarily deny it to any who can obtain it without doing harm to others.

We are unable to reach any other conclusion than that the Osterman decision must be overruled and that it now be the law in this jurisdiction that the unappropriated waters of every natural stream within the State of Nebraska may be diverted from one basin to another, except when such diversion is contrary to the public interest, in which case it shall be denied. Accordingly, we specifically overrule our earlier decision in Osterman v. Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, supra.

Having concluded that the director would no longer apply the prohibitions of the Osterman decision, we are required to reverse the director's decision and remand the case back to the director to determine whether the waters which he has already determined to be unappropriated may be taken without damage to the public interest. If they can, the permit should be granted. The judgment is, therefore, reversed and the cause remanded to the Director of Water Resources for further proceedings in accordance with this opinion.

REVERSED AND REMANDED.

WATER DIVISIONS

The State of Nebraska is divided in two water divisions, denominated Water Division No. 1 and Water Division No. 2, respectively.

WATER DIVISION NO. 1: BOUNDARIES

Water Division No. 1 consists of all the lands of the state drained by the Platte Rivers and their tributaries lying west of the mouth of the Loup River; and also all other lands lying south of the Platte and South Platte Rivers that may be watered from other superficial or subterranean streams not tributary to the Platte River.

WATER DIVISION NO. 2: BOUNDARIES

Water Division No. 2 consists of all lands that may be watered from the Loup, White, Niobrara and Elkhorn Rivers, and Hat Creek and their tributaries, and those lands drained by the Platte River and its tributaries lying east of the mouth of the Loup River.

DISTRIBUTION

For convenience in the administration of the water laws and the distribution of water, the two water divisions have been subdivided into twelve water divisions, denominated 1-A, 1-B, 1-C, 1-D, 1-E, 1-F, 2-A, 2-B, 2-C, 2-D, 2-E, and 2-F as shown on the following page.

CLAIMS AND APPLICATIONS

The following tables give a complete list of all claims and applications of record in the Department of Water Resources. This list also includes pending applications which have not yet been approved.

The claims and applications have been arranged in each water division by streams in alphabetical order, and the appropriations on each stream are arranged in order of priority.

Appropriations having docket numbers refer to claims covering rights which were acquired under the law prior to April 4, 1895, or those on the Missouri River covered by the law passed in 1980; and those having application numbers were filed to appropriate water under the law of 1895.

Following these tables is a list of water appropriations which have been cancelled in full or in part, or have been dismissed, during the past two years.

Definitions of the abbreviations and texts of the footnotes which appear in these tables may be found on the following page.
